KEY FACTS ABOUT SWEDEN

REASONS TO CHOOSE SWEDEN

AN ATTRACTIVE OPPORTUNITY

International companies are attracted to Sweden for numerous reasons. The country is a global leader in innovation with a highly skilled labour force, consumers eager to adopt new technologies, smooth business procedures and an openness to international ownership.

Sweden stands out and outperforms the rest of Europe in many key areas, such as in terms of economy, innovation and competitiveness. Equally important, it is a nation of high-income earners who devote a large share of their spending on retail and food & beverages. Swedes are also recognised as trendsetters who are innately curious about new international brands and products.

THE SWEDISH RETAIL MARKET

THE NORDIC COUNTRY WITH THE HIGHEST RETAIL TURNOVER

STRONG RETAIL SALES GROWTH IN SWEDEN

The Swedish retail market has enjoyed positive annual growth for over two decades, fueled both by steadily increasing population growth and rising disposable income. The retail market is projected to grow following years as well.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR INTERNATIONAL RETAILERS

For international retailers seeking growth and diversification, the Swedish retail market is an increasingly attractive market for expansion. The Swedish marketplace has traditionally been dominated by domestic brands and by a small number of large chains, especially in the high-volume clothing, furniture and food retail segments. It has therefore remained relatively untapped by international retailers. Two examples of this are Swedish H&M, the second largest apparel retailer in the world, and IKEA, the world's largest furniture retailer.

In recent years many international brands have entered the Swedish retail market and established a popular position among consumers. Popular international brands with several stores in Sweden include Zara, Lidl and Sephora. More recently, actors such as Uniqlo have opened in Sweden and are laying the foundations for further expansion.

FOODIE NATION

ONE OF EUROPE'S HAUTE CUISINE SPOTS

The restaurant and food segments in Sweden offer high potential in terms of purchasing power, consumer interest, as well as favorable conditions for foreign companies to establish themselves. People living in Sweden are distinct for their great interest in eating out, compared to other countries in the Nordics, as well as for their appreciation for healthy food concepts. This has helped Sweden to emerge as a foodie nation, and with its modern food scene and world-recognized Swedish chefs, it has transformed itself into one of Europe's haute cuisine spots.

SWEDES LOVE TO EAT OUT

While it is not necessarily always cheap to eat out in Sweden, it is a popular form of social interaction both for residents and for the millions of tourists that visit each year. Swedes are spending more and more of their disposable income in restaurants, and they value concepts that offer inventive menus, unique flavors, and trendy experiences. Consequently, property owners and mall owners are devoting more retail space to restaurants.

THRIVING E-COMMERCE IN SWEDEN

EUROPEAN E-COMMERCE BOOMS, SWEDISH CONSUMERS GO INTERNATIONAL

E-commerce is showing strong growth in Europe and each year hundreds of million Europeans say that they regularly shop online. In fact, Sweden has one of the highest rates of online shopping in the world. Growing e-commerce is creating an increasing interest in international brands amongst Swedish consumers and for example, when Swedes are asked to name their favorite online store, national and international, the German e-commerce chain Zalando ranks in second place. Germany, China, Great Britain, Denmark and the US top the list as consumers increasingly choose to shop on international sites.

LOYAL EARLY ADOPTERS WITH A NEED FOR A WIDER SELECTION

A GROWING CONSUMER INTEREST FOR INTERNATIONAL BRANDS

Despite the growing interest in foreign e-commerce stores in recent years, there is still room for more international actors within all e-commerce segments and some are still relatively untapped by international players, such as “beauty & health” and “books & media”. One path to success in the Swedish retail market might begin with an online store, in order to better understand Swedish consumer behavior and which commodities Swedes are interested in. Many online consumers prefer a foreign webstore over a Swedish one, because they could not find the product they were looking for in Swedish e-commerce stores. This indicates that the market is still unsaturated and that there is a need for a wider Swedish retail selection.

SWEDEN – A FRONTRUNNER IN ADOPTING NEW TECHNOLOGIES

The tech-savvy Swedes are known not only for rapidly adopting new trends from abroad, but also for setting them. The cultural and creative industries are especially strong in Sweden, which is home to trailblazing companies such as Mojang (developer of the world-building Minecraft computer game), Spotify and a vibrant music and fashion scene – and consumers are quick to pick up on new movements.

CASE: BLUE TOMATO

— LEVERAGING A WELL-INFORMED LOCAL COMMUNITY

EXPANSION GUIDED BY ONLINE SALES

Blue Tomato, an Austrian board sports and lifestyle company, has chosen Gothenburg and Malmö as its most recent Nordic expansion locations. With rapid growth, the company currently operates approximately 70 stores across Germany, Austria, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Norway, and Finland.

Recognizing the strength of its online channel, Blue Tomato identified a loyal customer base in Sweden. Moreover, the demographic profile aligned particularly well with their target audience. Hanna Joie, the Head of Expansion at Blue Tomato, explains their approach: "When entering a new market, we seek a vibrant local community, which we found in both Gothenburg and Malmö. These cities boast a significant population of students and young individuals, along with a thriving skateboarding culture that aligns perfectly with our brand."

THE KEY TO SUCCESS: COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Blue Tomato swiftly integrated into the local board sports community, establishing a mutually beneficial relationship where the physical store presence complemented online sales, and vice versa.

"What we find unique about Swedish consumers is their higher level of knowledge and information about our products. They enter our stores with a clear understanding of what they want. In contrast, consumers in other countries often prefer a more guided shopping experience."

— Hanna Joie, Head of expansion, Blue Tomato

Hanna elaborates on their experience: "We received an overwhelming response and a warm welcome from the community, consumers, and the press. Recently, we were even included as a stop on the 'Best Foot Forward' tour, Europe's biggest amateur skate contest. We actively engage in such events to contribute to the community, which, in turn, leads to a greater demand for Blue Tomato."

DISCOUNT GROWING STRONGLY

SWEDEN'S DISCOUNT RETAIL SURGES, OUTPACING TOTAL RETAIL GROWTH

Discount retail in Sweden has been a growth success in recent years. Between 2014 and 2018, net sales in discount stores increased by 22bn SEK, equaling the total annual retail sales in Malmö, the country's third largest city. Swedish discount retail has grown more than total retail since 2016 – and the trend will certainly continue following years.

INCREASINGLY POPULAR – THE MARKET IS WIDE

One strong explanation for the success of the discount retail in Sweden is that any consumer can be interested in making a bargain. The industry has invested heavily over the past decade to create fresh and trend-sensitive stores. Major players such as Rusta, Jula, Willy:s and Bygghem have expanded in large parts of the country and created attractive stores with good quality products. By giving consumers exactly what they want at attractive prices, discount retail has achieved wide acceptance among the Swedish population.

CASE: COSTCO

— MAKING A SUCCESSFUL DEBUT IN SWEDEN

CAPTIVATING SWEDES WITH AMERICAN PRODUCTS

The establishment of Costco in Sweden was preceded by careful planning: they wanted a catchment area with 4-500,000 inhabitants, a customer base with a relatively high income level and the building needed to be approximately 13,000 square meters. The Arninge retail area outside of Stockholm met those requirements. Since opening in 2022, Costco has successfully attracted a large number of members, and it continues to grow; Swedes, in general, find American products interesting and culturally exciting.

STOCKHOLM, MALMÖ & GOTHENBURG

Costco are now ready to open more warehouses: first in Malmö where they are already on their way constructing their second warehouse and then followed by Gothenburg where they are actively looking for possible locations. "Malmö is particularly interesting for two reasons: a big catchment area when including Copenhagen and good logistics with a bridge that allows easy access across the Öresund region. Danish people are already traveling to Sweden for purchases and the Danish legislation that prohibits hypermarkets over 2,000 square meters limits the competition for Costco in the Danish market" says Emil Natanaelsson from Trophi the landlord for Costcos first location in Sweden.

Emil Natanaelsson, Deputy CEO of Trophi Fastighets AB

DISTINCTIVE LOCATIONS TO CHOOSE FROM

Another relevant insight is that whether you are a big box retailer or a fashion chain, you can choose among some very clear-cut commercial locations. It is easy to characterize the different retail parks and shopping centers, especially compared to the ones in other countries. "If you take Arninge, Kungens Kurva, Barkarby, Westfield Mall of Scandinavia or Täby Centrum, you know what they are and what to expect. This makes the investment calculation much more straightforward. Moreover, the rental levels are relatively lower compared to similar locations in other countries," says Emil Natanaelsson.

SUSTAINABILITY AS A DRIVING FORCE

SWEDISH CONSUMERS DEMAND SUSTAINABILITY: SHIFT TOWARDS CONSCIOUS CONSUMPTION AND THRIVING SECOND-HAND MARKET

In 2021, Sweden ranked second in the UN Sustainable Development Report and the Global Innovation Index, and topped the Global Sustainable Competitiveness Index.

VALUE-DRIVEN CONSUMERS

Consumers are placing higher demands than ever on companies not only when it comes to minimising environmental impact, but also making a positive contribution.

The Swedish debate around climate change tends to highlight individual action and responsibility. This has resulted in many consumers, not least young people, increasingly reflecting on their consumption and its environmental and social effects. However, this does not necessarily result in decreased consumption. In fact, Sweden has greater retail spending per capita than many other European countries. At the same time, the way consumers view ownership is beginning to shift. There is a growing interest in brands that offer recycling, repairs and second-hand products.

Brands recognised for sustainability include for example Residus, Asket, Decicated, Mini Rodini, Houdini and Filippa K amongst many others. There is also a plethora of second hand and renting concepts expanding. Examples include Arkivet, Sellpy, Plick and Rerobe.

CASE: ARKIVET

— A SYMBIOTIC RELATIONSHIP WITH THE CUSTOMER

SECOND HAND - REVOLUTIONIZED

When Caroline Hamrin opened the first Arkivet store five years ago, her ambition was to revolutionize the second-hand industry and make it easy and enjoyable for a fashion-conscious and affluent target audience to shop second-hand clothes. The ambition aligns perfectly with a growing group of sustainability-minded Swedish consumers. There are currently four Arkivet stores located in Stockholm and Gothenburg.

"The success behind the concept lies in our daring niche approach. We have a meticulously curated selection of garments that are no more than 2-3 years old", Caroline explains. "We happily mix exclusive brands with more affordable pieces but are very selective when it comes to what we accept."

QUALITY AND CLEAR CONCEPT

"Another crucial aspect of the concept is high turnover. Customers know that they must visit the store frequently to find the hidden gems. It's often the same customers who both bring in clothes and make purchases. We call this cycle 'Archiving,'" Caroline says. "This also means that we get to know many of our customers, and the store becomes a meeting place. However, it requires us to maintain a clear concept and ensure that the store is always neat and inspiring."

"Customers are more concerned than ever about good quality. People are actually willing to pay a little extra for quality items that they know will last longer, such as beautiful but previously worn cashmere sweaters. It's acceptable to remove a few pills yourself because you know the quality is good. Five years ago, we couldn't have sold such a sweater, but now consumers are perfectly fine with fixing it up and taking care of it themselves."

GOTHENBURG

A CITY IN TRANSFORMATION

Gothenburg is one of the fastest growing regions in Europe and we are currently in a period of rapid development. Over EUR 100 billion is being invested in property developments and infrastructure. 120,000 jobs will be created, and the city centre will literally double in size.

But it's not just about new buildings and places. We're creating possibilities for meetings, interaction, experiences and development. This is generating immense optimism for the future, and part of the reason why we are attracting people, companies and investment like never before.
